General Equalities Statement and Objectives

This is a Tame River Educational Trust. As an employer the Trust will ensure that at every level, in all our work and throughout all aspects of the Trust communities, all will be treated equally, with respect and dignity, free from discrimination and harassment. Each person will be given fair and equal opportunities to develop their full potential regardless of their age, disability, gender, gender-identity, race, religion or belief, sexual orientation, socio-economic background and special educational needs. Our Trust will tackle the barriers which could lead to unequal outcomes for these protected groups, ensuring there is equality of access and that we celebrate and value the diversity within our Trust communities. The Trust will work actively to promote equality and foster positive attitudes and commitment to an education for equality.

Introduction:
Through inclusive and innovative practice, we aspire to excellence, and this statement has been written to reflect our core values but specifically great schools in which to learn, teach and belong.

The Public Sector Equality Duty:
The Public Sector Equality Duty, part of the Equality Act, came into force in April 2011. It requires organisations to eliminate unlawful discrimination, advance equality of opportunity, and foster good relations.

The Duty has a key role to play in making sure that fairness is at the heart of public bodies' work and that public services meet the needs of different groups. It covers a range of public bodies including Academy Trusts.

The Duty replaces the three former duties that required government departments and local authorities and other public bodies to take account sex, race and disability equality, both as employers and when making policy decisions and delivering services. The Duty standardises this requirement and also extends it to cover religion or belief, sexual orientation, pregnancy and maternity and gender reassignment. It also applies to marriage and civil partnerships, but only in respect of the requirement to have due regard to the need to eliminate discrimination.

Section 149(1) of the Equality Act 2010 puts various requirements on Trusts and schools when exercising their functions. The general duty requires academies to have due regard to:

- eliminate discrimination, harassment and victimisation and other conduct prohibited under the Act
- advance equality of opportunity between persons who share a relevant protected characteristic and persons who do not share it
- foster good relations between persons who share a relevant protected characteristic and persons who do not share it.

Having "due regard" is defined by the duty as the need to advance equality of opportunity involves considering the need to:

- remove or minimise disadvantages suffered by people due to their protected characteristics;
- meet the needs of people with protected characteristics; and
- encourage people with protected characteristics to participate in public life or in other activities where their participation is low.

Fostering good relations involves tackling prejudice and promoting understanding between people who share a protected characteristic and others. This means that consideration of equality issues must influence the decisions reached by the Trust, such as:

- how they act as employers;
- how they develop, evaluate and review policy; and
- how they design, deliver and evaluate services.

Equality Statement:

The Tame River Educational Trust will ensure that equal opportunities and the principles of fairness underpin all aspects of policy, procedure, education provision, consultation and decision making.

The Trust is committed to equality in its delivery of education, whether or not the service is directly provided by us or contracted by the school to a third-party provider.

The Trust is committed to adopting the aims of Public Sector Equality Duty in all schools and workplaces. We aim to provide high-quality education services, making sure services are easily accessible. We will improve on what we do by continuing to consult with staff, students, parents and governors, their communities and partners about equalities issues. We will promote our equal opportunities policy in our contact with parents, staff, governors and external organisations.

We will make every effort in creating equality of opportunity to ensure they are accessible and fair to everyone. Every person has the right to be treated fairly, regardless of race, sex, sexuality, disability, age, culture, religion, nationality or caring responsibilities. Where necessary we will implement reasonable adjustments, or additional support, to ensure equality of access to education and suitable working environment.

Our staff and governors who are responsible for the delivery of our education provision will recognise diversity and demonstrate a proactive approach in their day-to-day work. They will ensure that everyone is treated fairly, recognising special needs and understanding differences. Behaviour will reach our high standards of conduct (staff and students) and the learning environment we provide will be safe and accessible for those studying and working.

The Trust will adhere to statutory Government legislation and give consideration to other relevant guidance, which aims to make sure that everyone is treated with equity.
